RHYTHMS OF THE NIGHT

A TRULY ENCHANTED EVENING,
UNLIKE ANY YOU WILL EVER EXPERIENCE AGAIN

Imagine this setting: flickering torches, swaying palms, water gently lapping the shore, a mystical pyramid surrounded by a tropical jungle, all under a star-studded sky... This mesmerizing experience will captivate your heart and leave you spellbound.

Las Caletas, the former jungle hideaway of film director John Huston, is a magical paradise only accessible by sea, and the backdrop for our unique evening excursion, Rhythms of the Night.

Only an hour sail away, our journey takes us past the storybook town of Vallarta, which glistens in shades of fiery gold and pink, illuminated by the setting sun.

As we arrive at the secluded cove of Las Caletas, you'll be welcomed by flickering torches and soft music that compliments the song of the jungle. The mood? A heady mix of mysticism and romance.

You'll dine by candle-light beside the moon-lit ocean, with tropical palms swaying gently overhead. Then, a rhythmic drumbeat will beckon you into the heart of the shadowy jungle, where you'll find a torch-lit pyramid set among the towering palms, the staging for our hypnotic performance of dance and mysticism.
